

Democrats Carry City and County

LITTLE CHANGE IN COUNCIL MAKEUP

Van Wagoner Leads In State Voting.

With a field of Democratic campaign workers on the job and the weatherman dishing out anything except Republican weather, Crawford county's biennial spring election went into the Democratic column with a vengeance. The City of Grayling led in the onslaught with majorities for the Dems of as high as over 200. Grayling township gave a slight edge in favor of the Republican candidates. Frederic favored the Democrat candidates as did also Beaver Creek, Maple Forest and Lovells joined the Republican column and South Branch made it emphatic with an average two to one vote in favor of the Republican candidates.

Van Wagoner, as was expected, lead in votes in the City of Grayling, Frederic, Beaver Creek, Maple Forest, and Lovells; Grayling township tied with 36 votes for Van Wagoner and Ziegler, Democrat and Republican candidates, and South Branch gave Ziegler 6 majority.

Three Councilmen Returned.

In the election of councilmen for the city of Grayling, Mayor Chris W. Olsen, and Councilmen Roy O. Milnes and Carl Jensen were re-elected, and Al Roberts and George Burke will complete the city organization.

Out of a field of ten candidates, the five having the largest number of votes would be declared elected. Roy Milnes led with 466 votes and George Burke was a close second with 430 votes. Al Roberts next with 411, Carl Jensen with 352 and Chris Olsen with 321. Councilman Jesse Schoonover was nosed out by one vote by Mayor Olsen.

Frank Sales, the fifth member of the council for the past two years had declined to be a candidate for re-election this year. He was a very able councilman, as was also Mr. Schoonover and the public owes them a debt of gratitude for the service they have rendered the city. Both were dependable men and able councilmen. Mr. Sales, together with Mayor Olsen, represented Grayling city on the county board of supervisors.

Al Roberts served on the village council for many years and knows the city's affairs just about as well as anyone in it and is going to be a lot of help in the administration of the city's business. George Burke has one of the biggest business investments in the city, is a successful business man and understands the handling of big business. He is a splendid choice of the people for councilman.

Mayor Olsen has long served the city. When convinced on a principle he has the courage of conviction to stick to his point. Roy Milnes is a young man of excellent judgment and has given the city the benefit of his services for many years. Roy is a clear thinker and a big assistance with any organization.

Carl Jensen has served on the council for the past two years and has a good knowledge of city affairs. He, as well as Mr. Milnes, is a member of the school board.

Hans Petersen, the present incumbent, was re-elected justice of the peace, an office that he has held for many years. Morgan Paige was elected constable, although he was not a candidate on the city ticket.

Tabulated reports of the county and city voting appears herewith. A star after the name of a candidate for election to the city council indicates election.

HONOR JUDGE JOHN C. SHAFFER

To honor and present Judge John C. Shaffer, the attorneys and officers of the counties in the 34th Judicial circuit, Gladwin, Arenac, Ogemaw, Roscommon, Crawford and Otsego, gathered Tuesday evening for a chicken dinner at the Spanish American War Veterans camp, located on the west side of Higgins Lake. After dinner Judge Shaffer was presented and in turn gave a very fine talk.

Following the banquet the attorneys of the counties present held a meeting to form a Bar Association in this 34th Judicial district. It was decided at that time to invite the attorneys of the 23rd district, over which Judge Herman Delmke presides, to join, making it a Bar association of the two districts. Only temporary officers were elected until such time as they could ascertain whether or not the attorneys of the 23rd district are interested in joining up with such an association. The following were elected: Judge John C. Shaffer, President; Judge Earl Chapin, of West Branch, secretary; Judge Henry Miltner, of Cadillac, was in attendance at the meeting and gave a talk on the manner in which the Northwest Michigan Bar association of which he is a member, conduct their meetings.

The next meeting will be held in June, at a date to be determined later, in West Branch, when judges of the 34th district will invite the 23rd district to attend.

Harlem Globe Trotters Here Sat. Nite

WORLD'S COLORED BASKET BALL CHAMPS TO PLAY HANSON CAFE TEAM

Basketball that has never been seen before in this section of the state will be witnessed when the Harlem Globe Trotters, World's colored champions, take the floor here next Saturday night against the Hanson Cafe team at 9:15.

Many of the country's leading sports writers claimed them without an equal in deceptive passing, uncanny shooting, along with clowning acts that keep the fans in a laughing mood throughout the game. The Hanson Cafe team has been very fortunate in bringing this team here for an exhibition and many of you fans who have been longing to see a real professional team in action will now have the opportunity at a small admission charge.

The Harlem Globe Trotters have won over ninety per cent of their games this year and have defeated the leading college teams and pro teams, including the New York Celtics, since their organization. During the past ten years they have played 1274 games, winning 1166 and losing 108 games. Last year they won 154 out of 156 games. Few teams can boast of this record.

Their lineup will consist of Jackson, center, one of the greatest ball handlers in the game; Rusan, a forward, stand 5 feet 4 inches, weighing but 130 pounds, the smallest man playing professional ball and one of the fastest; Watts, forward, one of the finest players to come out of Wisconsin. The guards are Ford and Strong. Strong has the largest hands in basketball; Bunny Leavitt, free throw artist, will give an exhibition in this line. His official record is 499 consecutive throws without a miss, and has been featured in movie sport shorts.

Main game will start at 9:15; Preliminary at 8 o'clock. Admission, children 15c; adults 35c.

DONKEY BASKETBALL GAME AFFORDED MANY THRILLS

Basketball on—and frequently off—donkeys made its inaugural bow in Grayling last Wednesday night when the year's biggest crowd saw Milne's team triumph over Spike's aggregation by a 14 to 8 margin. It was good entertainment for a crowd that numbered in the vicinity of six hundred people.

The donkey game set up a new code of rules, but the scoring came when the ball found the nets in the usual way. Aside from that fixed fact the game afforded the novel sight of players battling each other in what resembled free-for-alls, players earnestly trying to bestir some reluctant quadruped by pulling the head off, players sitting atop their steeds in the approved manner, and players sitting on top of donkeys laid out like carpets. There was no recorded case of the donkey sitting on a player however.

The Milnes outfit got off to a head start by rolling up an 8-0 score at the end of the first period. It was 10-2 at the half. The last quarter found Spike's scrappy outfit out-scoring their rivals by a margin of six points to four and a final count of 14 to 8. There was some fancy passing on display, and some flashes of real team-work. The high point man of the fracas was Clarence Johnson, who hit the bucket four times. Cornell with two baskets was the only other player who got more than one counter.

The longest shot of the game was tallied by Dr. Ardis, whose basket was from far out. Larson, McNeven, Thompson, and Dr. Stealy also collected points for their teams. The players found the game to be an active one, and hard work to play. It was great fun to watch.

The High School Athletic association collected half of the gate, the rest going to the owner of the donkey troupe. The school made close to forty dollars on the venture, and is grateful to those who took part in the game. The players who participated are as follows: A. Larson, C. Johnson, Dr. Stealy, G. Thompson, H. McNeven, V. Petersen, W. Cornell, R. Milnes, Dr. Ardis, W. Laurant, E. Fenton, Dr. Cook, and W. Swanson.

Former Gaylord Editor Reaches Ripe Age

(From Gaylord Herald & Times)

Every community has within it, a few people that are looked upon with veneration and a great deal of respect. In Gaylord one of these men is H. C. McKinley, a man who in the nearly 60 years of residence in the county, has been one of the foremost thinkers, a community booster, and one interested in every phase of activity.

Saturday, April 3, he will observe his 86th birthday, being the oldest man in this community, and everyone wishes him many more years of life.

Mr. McKinley was the second editor of the Otsego county paper, and for more than 40 years guided it, during that time seeing Gaylord emerge from a small lumber camp into a village, new homes built, streets improved, the county cleared, and within it springing prosperous farms.

He has ever watched with interest the forward steps being made, taking a keen delight in it.

During the past year he has suffered greatly, first losing the thumb on his left hand due to an infection, from which he was confined to a hospital for many weeks. Later it was necessary to remove his right arm just below the elbow, which meant many more weeks in a hospital bed.

But he is home now, making light of his afflictions, and still just as keen in watching the march of time as ever, with an optimism which would do credit to any man, and with a faith that causes us all to honor him.

To Mack goes the love and respect of all.

The Avalanche wishes to add its tribute to this grand citizen of the north. Mr. McKinley was identified with the Avalanche in its early years and also only a few years ago was employed in this office. He was a journalist of the highest type and as a

VANDERBILT'S TINY BABY BROT TO GRAYLING

Carroll Ann, born to Mr. and Mrs. Philip Pauquin at their home in Vanderbilt Saturday morning, was brot to Grayling and is now being cared for in a baby incubator. Born three months prematurely it is in delicate condition, but is receiving the finest of care by Doctor Rifenberg, the family doctor, of Gaylord, and the hospital Sisters and nurses.

At birth the baby weighed 34 ounces and by Monday morning had gained ¼ ounce, which isn't much but indicates a healthy condition.

The baby measures 14 inches in length which is about seven inches short of normal length. Its head has a circumference of 9 ½ inches against a normal size of from 12 to 14 inches. It is 3 ½ inches across its little shoulders. Its tiny hands were 2 inches long. Arms 5 inches from shoulder to wrist.

The writer was privileged to see the baby and found it taking its small ration of milk and drop of whiskey. There is no hair and the baby would occasionally open a small crack in its eyelids revealing a pair of dark eyes. It seemed to enjoy its food and would stretch and squirm and apparently was enjoying life. It did not cry but the Sisters assured us that it had a good voice.

It will be interesting to watch developments of this tiny piece of humanity.

citizen there are none better anywhere. What a wonderful life he has lead and what an inspiring example he has set. His is a brilliant, scholarly mind, charitable in thoughts and judgment; he was always cheerful and interesting, faithful to every trust, thorough in everything he attempted and trustworthy in every responsibility. Editor Paul MacDonald of Gaylord says "To Mack goes the love and respect of all," and we know that that does mean

School Notes

With the basketball season ended and all equipment stored away in mothballs, baseball bids fair to occupy the center of the sport stage for the remainder of the year.

A varied assortment of baseball hopefuls answered Coach Cornell's first call to practice and if numbers mean anything, the Green and White will be well represented on the diamond this year.

Although it is a little early to make any predictions the number of veterans out would seem to auger well for the success of the team.

With Chalker, Hanson, Cotts, Westerholm, Matthews, Tibbetts, Moshier, Bidvia, McClain, Snook and Deckrow back from last year's aggregation, along with Clayton Anthony, who bids fair to develop into an excellent pitcher, and a host of others; it would seem that Grayling baseball fans will have some good baseball in store for them this spring.

Vision tests have been given in the schools this year and the results sent home in cases where defects have been disclosed. Mrs. Gorman confers with parents as to the interpretation of the tests and in many cases the Children's Fund will supply glasses to pupils for a minimum charge. The eighth grade is next in line for tests, the seventh grade having just been completed.

Work on the Senior play has started, with the student dramatists getting ready to give Grayling a chance to "Meet The Duchess" in the not far distant future. The play has been selected, the cast has been chosen and work has already started on the matter of mastering the lines and action. More will be heard about this activity. Miss Jessie MacDonald is in charge of the production. The eleven students who have parts are as follows: Bill Joseph, Herbert Feldhauser, Stephan Jorgenson, and Kermit Charron, the fellows, and Marguerite Feldhauser, Ruth Stevenson, Margaret Buck, Donna Griffith, Elsie Mae LaMotte, Dorothy Wakeley, and Pauline Entsminger, the girls.

The Juniors have begun to lay plans for their Prom. With the date set as May 21st the class is busy studying bids from orchestras and figuring on decorations. A music committee of Class President Norma Griffith, Dorothy Morris, Frances Entsminger, and Jerriene Peterson has been holding conferences and the class will be able to announce a decision within a short time.

The Biology class has been studying the action of bacteria, and Mr. Deming has made it possible for them to actually see the results by means of experiment. Pieces of boiled potatoes have been pressed into service to serve as the home for these growths as well as furnish food. Some were exposed to the air, other pieces were coughed upon, others rubbed with grime and so on. The results should be interesting.

The boys in the Home Economics class are serving luncheons on Tuesday and Wednesday. This is the first time they have prepared the entire meal.

The girls in the Related Arts class have sanded the chairs and table as the first step in finishing them for the dining room.

Mother's Cook Book

ABOUT FROZEN DISHES

BY ADDING a little quick-cooking tapioca to various frozen dishes, the cream may be thinned and the product just as good or better for most occasions. The tapioca prevents the formation of ice crystals, and so makes it possible to use combinations of milk and cream. When using a mechanical refrigerator, simply set the control for freezing desserts and forget all about it until the freezing is complete.

Frozen Pudding.

Add three tablespoons of quick-cooking tapioca to two cups of milk, with one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt; cook in a double boiler for 15 minutes, or until the tapioca is clear and the mixture thickened. Add one-half cup of milk, three tablespoons of corn sirup and cook until smooth. Cool and strain through a sieve, then chill. Add the tapioca mixture; add two egg whites beaten stiff with two tablespoons of sugar. Fold in one cupful of cream whipped, one teaspoonful of vanilla, twelve blanched, sliced and toasted almonds, two tablespoons of candied pineapple, diced. Turn into a freezing tray and freeze three to four hours.

To prepare toasted coconut bisque, use the above recipe, adding one cupful of toasted coconut, crumbled, in place of the fruit and nuts.

Frozen ginger pudding is prepared in the same way, adding four tablespoons of ginger sirup and one-fourth of a cupful of pecan meats coarsely chopped. Serve as usual.

Departed Spirits.

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—Continued failure of mediums to claim the reward offered by the late Harry Houdini, who provided a test for proof of communication with the spirit world, makes me think of a thing that happened at the first seance ever held down in my neck of the woods.

The operator was summoning the spirits of departed dead ones to order. A lanky youth out of the bottoms desired to speak with his father.

Presently, a shadowy figure appeared between the cabinet's dark curtains and a voice uttered muffled sounds.

"Is that you, Paw?" inquired the seeker.

"Yes, son," answered the voice.

"Paw, air you in heaven?"

Seemingly startled, the ghostly apparition hesitated a moment before giving what might be taken for an affirmative sound.

"Paw, air you an angel?" demanded the son.

Again an embarrassing delay, then a diffident mumble.

"A regular angel with wings and everything?"

Once more a low grunt.

"Say, Paw," cried the youth, perking up, "what do you measure from tip to tip?"

Matrimonial Adventures.
HERETOFORE some of the authorities have held that the first two years were the hardest in matrimonial adventures, but the peak of the danger period for married couples is now set at the sixth year by Los Angeles city attorney. On the side he runs a bureau for handling the funds assessed for family support against separated or delinquent parents. So he ought to know about it, if anybody does.

Well, personally, I always did have the theory that no woman could stand any man for more than five years unless she got numb. After that it's just a long-distance endurance test on her side—and perhaps sometimes on both sides.

Senatorial Shifts.
NAMING no names, a little bird just in from Washington whispers that one senator, under the influence of alternating psychic waves or something, already has shifted three times on the plan to make the Supreme court over. First he was against it, then for it, then against it again, and is now threatening to change once more. They'll be taking bets on him at Lloyd's next.

Once in a while we get a statesman who reminds you of a hunk of country butter in an icebox—takes the flavor of everything near by, but not improved by any one of 'em.

Maine's Statesmen.
THERE is but one answer to the attitude assumed by both of Maine's senators, who show a pronounced inclination to balk at whatever the New Deal calls for in congress and especially at the plan to mold the Supreme court somewhat closer to the boy scout model.
If these here foreigners don't like this country, why don't they go back where they came from?

The Game of Poker.
CALIFORNIA'S attorney general decides that draw poker, unless played as a percentage game, is not gambling.

Had he gone deeper into the subject, he might have ruled that draw poker, as generally played nowadays, is not even a game. What veteran would call it anything except a sacrilege against an ancient and once honorable sport when folks are free to introduce at will such abominations as deuces wild or one-eyed jacks or barber's itch or spit in the ocean?

To draw honest cards; to try to play the other fellow's chances as well as your own; to try to figure when to raise and when to call and when to quit; to try to pick the right moment for bluffing, since the bluff is the real soul of the thing—that's poker, my masters, an American-born pastime, hallowed with age, ennobled by usage, beloved of the fathers.

Trees Prove History Repeats.
Tree rings, which tell the story of wet and dry seasons, do not indicate there is any general trend toward either drier or wetter climate. In the Pacific Northwest, where the United States Department of Agriculture made studies of 1,240 ponderosa pines centuries old, show that the period from 1917 to 1935 was critically subnormal because of the lack of precipitation and lower water tables. The average ring growth from 1903 to 1919 was identical with the general average during the past 600 years, bearing out the generally accepted theory that climatic history repeats itself through the ages.

If the recently completed photographic contest of the East Michigan Tourist Association is to be used as an indicator, the Lumbermen's Monument, in Isosco County, Okeoke Falls, in Presque Isle County, and Broken Rocks, in Huron County, are the three most widely photographed spots in Eastern Michigan. Nearly one-fifth of the 500 photographs received in the contest were taken in those spots. The monument, which cost $50,000, is by the noted sculptor, Robert Aiken, of New York, and is a memorial to the early lumbermen of Michigan. It is located in the Huron National Forest, Okeoke Falls is a popular camping spot located 12 miles west of Rogers City on scenic Okeoke River. Broken Rocks, located at the tip of the Thumb, offers one of the most spectacular scenic views of its kind in the middle west. (E. M. T. A. service.)

OBEYING ORDERS

Aunt Sarah—I'm afraid you are getting too familiar with Mr. Love. You know I told you he should be held at arm's length.

Miss Philp—Yes, I held him at arm's length, all right, and the length of my arms was just enough to reach around his neck.

TAIL SPIN

"This furniture is antique."

"Yes, did you inherit it?"

"In a way. My grandfather bought it from a man on the installment plan, and I took over the payments."

ON A YARD LINE

Fred—You say your sister is engaged?

Tommy—Yes, she's in the parlor now gettin' engaged.

BRIGHT SPOTS

"How are your light bills these days?"

"Heavy."

WOOF, WOOF!

He—You always act so kittenish.

She—Except when I see a mouse.

THEN AND NOW

"Just think, some years ago it was considered a sin to dance."

"The way some people dance now is a crime."

THUMBS UP!

"What'd ya say we head South?"

"Okay. How'll we make it?"

"Why, take a tramp steamer!"

Considerable complaint is current by the firemen about autos running in front of and cutting in on the fire apparatus while going to a fire. The law gives fire apparatus right of way while going to fires and must be observed, said Oliver Cody, fire chief. When going to the Clough fire Monday night the fire truck was forced into a ditch, he said, causing ten minutes delay. Hereafter drivers must stand the consequences whenever they fail to clear the highway for the fire apparatus.

The home of Arthur Clough, together with its contents, were destroyed by fire early Monday evening. Mr. Clough was sitting reading to his three children, when one of the youngsters remarked that a light was burning in the bedroom. On opening the door of the room flames shot out with terrific force and Mr. Clough and children hurriedly left the building. The former tried to get back in an effort to save something but the flames turned him back. He is at a loss to know just what caused the fire. The fire department was hastily summoned and although they worked heroically they were unable to save the building. Mr. Clough carried insurance of $500 on the building and $500 on contents.

CROWD ENJOYS VIOLIN ENSEMBLE

A fair sized crowd attended the musical given by the Mozelle Bennett Sawyer violin ensemble of Traverse City Tuesday evening at Michelson Memorial church.

The Ensemble is made up of Mrs. Sawyer, director and instructor of a group of young violinists of which there are some ten boys and girls ranging in age from 13 to 17 years, and their pianist, Mr. Barnett. The group, which has been receiving instruction for two years, shows remarkable talent and excellent training. Every selection on the program was very well received by the audience.

Already the ensemble have given concerts in many towns and cities. April 24 they will appear on the program at the biennial convention of the National Federation of Music Clubs in Indianapolis.

Mrs. Sawyer is a graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. She appeared at Town Hall, Aeolian Hall and Carnegie Hall in New York after a successful season in Europe and is now teaching in Traverse City. The concert given Tuesday evening was sponsored by the choir of Michelson Memorial church and they are to be congratulated on bringing an entertainment of this character to our city.

Lansing—Developments of the "sit-down" strikes in Michigan, which have plagued Governor Murphy since the inaugural last January, are beginning to shape definitely in legislative halls here at the state capitol.

The developments are being speeded by recent historical rulings of the United States Supreme court, ending the so-called judicial "no man's land" between federal and state governments.

Washington's court openings have opened the gate in Michigan to the following New Deal measures:

Minimum wages and maximum hours for labor. Several bills are now pending in committees which would invest the state government with wide powers to determine fair wages and hours. The federal court ruling, upholding the Washington state minimum wage law, prompted a nation-wide movement to have such social legislation enacted by states. In Nevada the governor signed a bill setting an $18 weekly wage for women.

Strike Regulation Next?

That the state government will adopt regulations restricting or outlawing strikes is seen as another likely outcome.

Governor Murphy has announced that University of Michigan experts are now busy drafting labor arbitration measures.

Has the state of Michigan such authority?

Study the following declaration, contained in the supreme court's ruling:

"In dealing with the relation of employer and employee, the legislature has necessarily a wide field of discretion in order that there may be suitable protection of health and safety, and that peace and good order may be promoted through regulations designed to insure wholesome conditions of work and freedom from oppression."

The language appears to be clear, say the experts who declare that Michigan could outlaw sit-down strikes by legislative decree and make it stick.

States' Rights

It is the state legislature, rather than Congress at Washington, that bears close watching in the enactment of laws affecting Michigan labor and industry. The court ruling also upheld a Virginia law fixing arbitrary minimum prices of milk as a matter of public policy.

In Detroit the price of milk has just been increased 1 cent a quart, after producers had threatened to invoke a farmers' strike.

If minimum wages and hours can be determined by the legislature, you may be sure that the farmers will ask for similar benefits in the matter of farm prices. Minimum wages for school teachers is proposed by Representative Peter R. Legg of Escanaba.

Militant "Bloc"

In the house a militant representative, Philip Rahoi, democrat of Iron Mountain, has focused attention on old age pensions and unemployment relief. Taking the general stand that he will vote against any appropriation bill until the pensions and relief welfare bills are passed by the house, Rahoi has become the leader of a so-called "progressive bloc."

The Rahoi group wants the following:

1. An increase from $2,000,000 to $12,000,000 state appropriation for old age pensions.

2. An increase from $9,000,000 to $12,000,000 state appropriation for the state's share in direct relief.

Relief Costs Vary

While the cost of unemployment relief has been increased sharply due to the epidemic of "sit-down" strikes, legislators are trying again to solve the complicated and perplexing problem of how to distribute funds.

If relief funds were handed down on a basis of population, you would run into the situation where it costs $18.43 a month in Schoolcraft county to maintain a family and $43.99 for the same family in Wayne county. Then, too, only 4 out of every 100 persons in Clinton and Livingston counties are dependent on relief. In Roscommon county this proportion is 84 out of 100.

Motor-Minded Legislators

Since Michigan is the world capitol for the manufacture of motor vehicles, it is only logical that its legislators are "motor-wise." There are 49 bills in the house and 14 in the senate directly related to the state's number one industry and its many ramifications.

Everything from prohibiting hitch-hiking to compulsory insurance for all automobiles has been proposed. One bill now before the senate would require motorists to stop and render aid if a dog is run over on the highway. Another which has passed the senate would make drunk-driving a felony.

The bills are so numerous that the major portion of the army of Lansing lobbyists are kept busy watching their progress.

Miscellaneous

Farm co-operatives would be permitted to make and sell wine, according to a bill passed by the senate and now before the house.

The civil service bill, passed by the senate, is expected to come before the house soon. It was confined in committee due to the election.

Garden clubs have launched a move to rescue the billboard bill from oblivion. This measure, affecting billboards outside city limits, is believed to be constitutional in view of recent federal and state supreme court rulings. The bill would license billboards and hence would not prevent further commercialization of scenic views.

Township fire departments would be possible as a special assessment district under House Bill 309 now before the senate.

Story of Return Trip From West

Clare Madsen writes an interesting account of their homeward trip after spending several weeks in Port Angeles, Wash., visiting Mrs. Madsen's parents. We are pleased to print it.

Wednesday, March 3rd, we left Port Angeles, Wash., headed for Seattle; drove along the water most of the way and arrived at Seattle at two o'clock in the afternoon.

Thursday we spent seeing the town. We visited the zoo in the morning and visited the art museum in the afternoon. Here there is a good deal of Chinese and Japanese art which was very interesting. We also visited the greenhouses. There were many different kinds of flowers and plants from many parts of the world. They have a great collection of orchids here. They were all in bloom and very pretty.

We visited the government locks where the boats are taken from the salt water into Lake Washington. There are many mills on the shores of Lake Washington. We topped off the day by going to one of the downtown theatres.

Friday morning we left Seattle for San Francisco. We traveled through Washington along lower Columbia River. Here we saw a boat sunk with its decks above water. The peculiar part of this shipwreck was that this same boat had taken a load of lumber in Port Angeles the week before. It was an Italian steamer headed for Italy.

We went thru Portland that afternoon. We traveled thru southern Oregon; stopped for the night at Drain, Oregon. The climate is very nice in this part of Oregon. Here they sold smelt along the highway, six pounds for a quarter. These are the same kind of smelt we have in Michigan.

We proceeded on our way thru Grant's Pass, Oregon; crossed the Oregon-California line about ten o'clock. Here the United States Department of Agriculture go through all your luggage, looking for plants and fruit that carry diseases.

Thirty-five minutes from the line we hit the big redwoods. They are really beautiful. Here everyone seems to make their living selling souvenirs—and what prices they get for them!!!

We saw the tallest tree in the world, 364 feet high. We also saw some very big ones; one tree was estimated to have 18,700 feet of lumber in it. Some of the limbs were 3 feet in diameter.

We hit the ocean at Crescent City, Calif. We followed the ocean for a long ways. I stopped and bought some fresh shrimps. We had them fried for our evening meal, and they were very good. At this place we saw a lobster that weighed 7 pounds.

We also saw oil wells in the ocean; some were at least a half mile from shore.

We arrived at San Francisco Sunday afternoon, crossed the San Francisco bay on a ferryboat. Saw the two big bridges that are being built. At San Francisco we visited Mr. and Mrs. Ben Pankow for a few minutes. Visited others in this city also.

We left San Francisco Monday morning and commenced to see fruit trees in blossom. The farther south we went the more it was like summer, and the more fruit we began to see. We saw lemons, oranges and grapefruit on the trees.

We arrived in Los Angeles Tuesday morning. Here we saw our first banana tree. They look very much like cat-tails to me. Some had bananas on yet. We visited two different parties at this city. In Los Angeles we bought a box of oranges for thirty-five cents.

We turned east at Los Angeles; went thru eastern California, which is very much a desert; across Arizona which was very dry and hot—mostly cactus and whitefaced cattle in this country. They do grow crops in parts where they have water to irrigate.

We crossed the continental divide into New Mexico. The mountains are very pretty and have very steep grades on the roads. We crossed the Rio Grande river in New Mexico.

In eastern New Mexico there are many big cattle ranches; also much desert. Here we saw drifts of sand so white they looked like snow.

In New Mexico and Texas they have cattle guards on the highways to keep the cattle from going from one ranch to the other. They are made similar to those used by the railroads here.

At Amarillo, Texas, we were overtaken by a dust storm. We were two hours going twenty miles. At times it was impossible to drive—could not see the radiator cap. The cars were parked along the highway waiting for it to clear off.

In Oklahoma we commenced to see a few trees; also saw a
